STUDENT HISTORY WORKBOOK - Unit 1

History, geography and civics only, with timelines, map skills and source-based work.

Lesson 1: Yesterday, today, tomorrow, and community

Read and Understand History

Direct teaching: A timeline shows events in order. A community includes people, places, and shared responsibilities. A map is a drawing that helps locate places; symbols on the map need a key.

Check your work: explain at least one answer using a drawing, calculation, exact passage, or evidence. If a task is too easy, try unfamiliar higher-level work rather than repeating memorized facts.

Historical Thinking and Geography: 8 Assignments

1. Tell something that happened yesterday.

2. Tell one activity you do today.

3. Name something planned for tomorrow.

4. Draw three boxes in order: morning, afternoon, evening.

5. Name one community helper.

6. Draw a simple map from one room to another.

7. Label the start and end of your route.

8. Explain why we should ask before claiming a story about the past is true.

Source Check

For each historical claim, identify who recorded it, its date and what the source can or cannot establish. Use accurate historical references; do not invent quotations or treat every account as equally supported.

Advanced Research Extension

Find a primary source and an independent credible historical account relevant to this lesson. Describe one agreement and one limitation, using real citations.
